Infinitive

This means “to do something” e.g. to love.

Latin endings: ARE, -ERE, -IRE e.g. amARE=to love, regERE=to rule, audIRE=to hear don't forget ESSE=to be

Persons

Verbs have persons e.g.

Person	Singular	Plural
1 st	I	We
2 nd	You (singular)	You (plural)
3 rd	He, she, it	They

e.g. amANT (they love) would be 3rd person plural, present tense

1st person singular, present tense

If you are asked to give the 1st person singular present tense of a verb this means that you must give the most basic form of the verb-the one which ends in O.

e.g. amO, regO etc

Participles

These are a cross between a verb and an adjective. They are formed from verbs but must agree with a noun in number, gender and case just like an adjective.

There are 2 types of participle required for Level 3: present and perfect passive. You only need to know the nominative and accusative endings:

Tense	PRESENT	PRESENT
Gender:	MASC/FEM	NEUTER SINGULAR
nominative	amans	amans
accusative	amantEM	amans
PLURAL
nominative	amantES	amantIA
accusative	amantES	amantIA

Other conjugations

2nd=monens, monentem; 3rd=regens, regentem 4th=audiens, audientem

In English present participles are always translated with “ing” on the end.

e.g. puellam clamantem magna voce audivi=I heard the girl shouting in a loud voice

Perfect participles-usually passive (also known as the PPP-perfect participle passive)

These are formed from the 4th principal part of a verb e.g. amo, amare, amavi, amatum

Note that the 4th principal part might sometimes be irregular e.g. fero, ferre, tuli, latum=I carry amatUS-A-UM= having been loved monitUS-A-UM=having been warned rectUS-A-UM=having been ruled

Latin CE Grammar Booklet Name.....
Level 3

auditus-A-UM=having been heard latUS-A-UM=having been carried

These participles decline like DOMINUS, PUELLA, BELLUM

e.g visus a matre, puer domum redire constituit=Having been seen by his mother the boy decided to return home.

dominus iam monitum servum necavit=the master killed the already warned slave (or perhaps better English: the master killed the slave who had already been warned)

NB: perfect participles of deponent verbs are not translated as passives but actives (because they are passive in form but active in meaning)

e.g. conatus=having tried lapsus=having slipped

The Passive Voice

This is a type of verb which is used to describe a situation in a slightly different way e.g.

active verb

The girl read the book

passive verb

The book was read by the girl

Notice that ordinary verbs are called active verbs and are said to be in the “active voice.”

The Subjunctive Mood

The tenses you have learnt so far have all been in the Indicative Mood. The Indicative is used to express facts. The Subjunctive mood usually deals with matters which are not expressed as definite facts. In Latin the Subjunctive is used to express purpose, wish, possibility and fear.

Latin CE Grammar Booklet
Level 3

Name.....

The imperfect subjunctive

This is formed by adding the endings (shown in bold capitals) to the present infinitive:

	1st conjugation		irregular
	love		be
Imperfect		Imperfect
I	amare M	I	esse M
You (sing.)	amare S	You (sing.)	esse S
He/She/It	amare T	He/She/It	esse T
We	amare MUS	We	esse MUS
You (plural)	amare TIS	You (plural)	esse TIS
They	amare NT	They	esse NT

You will only find the subjunctive used in the following two constructions in Level 3:

Purpose Clauses

To show that something is happening in order to do something else, a purpose clause is used. The word "ut" must appear in the sentence between the action and the purpose. There are normally two verbs in sentences with purpose clauses - one in the indicative to show the action and a verb in the subjunctive to show the purpose.

The "ut" is translated as "to" or "in order to" and the following subjunctive verb is translated as an infinitive

e.g. ad tabernam ambulamus ut ancillam videremus=We are walking to the shop in order to see the slave-girl.

Indirect Command

An indirect command is where an order is stated but not directly asked. They are formed by a verb of ordering, the word "ut" and a verb in the subjunctive. The "ut" is translated as "to" and the following subjunctive verb is translated as an infinitive in the indicative mood.

centurio militibus imperavit ut hostes invenirent

The centurion ordered the soldiers to find the enemy.

Common ordering words

- impero, imperare, imperavi, imperatum - to command
- iubeo, iubere, iussi, iussum - to order
- persuadeo, persuadere, persuasi, persuasum - to persuade
- oro, orare, oravi, oratum - to beg

3. PRONOUNS

A pronoun is a word which can replace a noun in a sentence. Examples are:
 I, you, we, this, that

Personal Pronouns

These are not essential in Latin because the verb person is contained in the verb itself e.g. amo=I love.
 When they are used with a verb it is often for extra emphasis or to point out a contrast e.g. ego clamo sed tu tacet=I shout but you are quiet.
 NB there is no vocative in I and we

4. ADJECTIVES

These describe nouns e.g. big, small

Latin examples and possible endings:

bonus=good (masculine ending)

Latin CE Grammar Booklet
Level 3

Name.....

parva=small (feminine ending)

magnum=big (neuter ending)

TOP TIP: you may be asked to give the gender of a noun. You can tell this from any adjectives next to it e.g.

Noun	Adjective	Gender puella	bonA	feminine servus	parvUS	masculine periculum	magnUM	neuter

REGULAR COMPARISON OF ADJECTIVES

Comparative Adjectives

These are used when you are comparing nouns e.g.

This road is longer than that one longer is a comparative adjective.

in Latin they are formed by adding -IOR to the stem e.g. longIOR=longer
Look out for plurals: longIORES and neuter nouns: longIUS

Superlative Adjectives

These are used when you want to say “very long” or “longest”

In Latin they are formed by adding ISSIMUS to the stem e.g. longISSIMUS=very long/longest

If an adjective ends in ER (e.g. pulchER=beautiful) ERRIMUS is added instead e.g. pulchERRIMUS=very beautiful

IRREGULAR COMPARISON OF ADJECTIVES

In Latin (as in English) some adjectives are irregular when they are used in comparisons:

positive	comparative	superlative bonus (good)	melior (better)	optimus (best; very good) malus (bad)	peior (worse)	pessimus (worst; very bad) magnus (big)	maior (bigger)	maximus (biggest; very big) parvus (small)	minor (smaller)	minimus (smallest; very small) multus (much)	plus (more)	plurimus (most; very much) multi (many)	plures (more)	plurimi (most; very many)

5. ADVERBS

These describe verbs e.g. slowly, quickly

Possible Latin endings:

- E e.g. lentE=slowly
- TER e.g. celeriTER=quickly

5. ADVERBS CONTINUED

Also look out for:

Adverbs of Time

- e.g. subito=suddenly
- deinde=then
- diu=for a long time

TOP TIP: If you get really stuck you could always look for NON (not) which is also an adverb. It will be found in front of a verb e.g. NON curro=I do not run

6. PREPOSITIONS

Tell us where something is (the positions of things) e.g.: in, on, under

In Latin prepositions always stand in front of a noun.

The noun following it always has an accusative or ablative ending.

You may be asked to find the following in a Latin passage:

1. a preposition followed by a noun in the accusative case
2. a preposition followed by a noun in the ablative case

To answer this question you must learn the following list carefully:

Prepositions followed by accusative nouns	Meaning	Prepositions followed by ablative nouns	Meaning ad	to, towards	a/ab	from, by contra	against	cum	with in *	into	de	down from, about per	through, along	e/ex	out of prope	near	in *	in trans	across	pro	on behalf of, in front of ante	before	sine	without circum	around	sub	under inter	between, among

Level 3

post	after propter	because of
super	above

* Be careful with “in”

With the accusative it means “into” e.g. I go into the classroom

With the ablative it means “in” e.g. I stand in the classroom

7. EXPRESSIONS OF TIME

accusative

The accusative is used to express how long something happened for e.g.
rex multos annos regebat=The king ruled for many years

ablative

i. The ablative is used to express the time when or at which something happened e.g.

tertia hora domum reliquimus=At the third hour we left the house

ii. The ablative is also used to express time within which something happened e.g.

quinque diebus ad urbem redibimus=Within five days (in five days time) we will return to the city.

8. NUMBERS

There are two types:

Cardinal numbers are ordinary numbers e.g. one, two, three etc

e.g. Latin: unus, duo, tres

Ordinal numbers tell us the order of something e.g. first, second, third etc

e.g. Latin: primus, secundus, tertius

9. WORD CONNECTIONS

Sometimes you may be asked to say what a word means and its connection with an English word e.g.

Latin word	English word	Connection between them duo	duet	duo=2. A duet is a piece of music performed by 2 players
